Individuality is not lost, but rather strengthened, in working with a friend for the perfect skateboard ride or working towards a conference championship, or leading an auction, or being the homecoming queen.

When the Bicentennial Wagon Train passed through Bay St. Louis some students were busy with basketball tournaments; others were parading in Waveland's Mardi Gras.

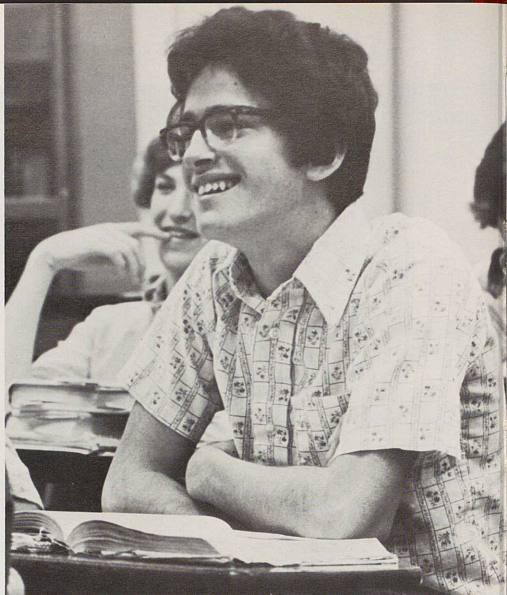

After learning from the more experienced, it is only fair that we share our time and talents with others.

A school like Stanislaus is more than buildings. In fact there would be no Stanislaus without the generous students who give it life.

ACADEMICS

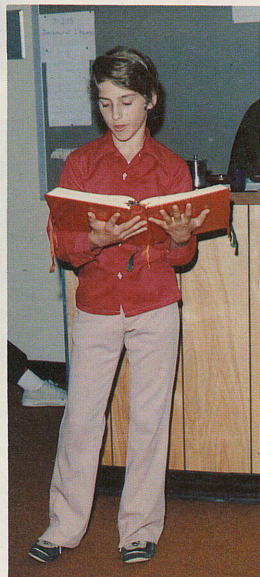

Theology Courses Enrich Students

One of the main elements that set Stanislaus apart from the other high schools in the area is the inclusion of theology in the curriculum. Every student is required to take a religion class.

Classes on various levels delve into biblical studies, morality, marriage, the sacraments, Christian ethics and the everyday problems of being a Catholic student in today's world. Textbooks vary from Hi-Time Magazine to the Bible.

Languages Offer Variety

At St. Stanislaus a student is offered a variety of languages. In the seventh and eighth grades the student is exposed to French and Spanish. As a freshman a student may have the choice of taking Spanish I, French I or Latin I. In his sophomore year the student advances to either Spanish II, French II or Latin II. The junior and senior students who would like to pursue the study of languages further, are offered either advanced Spanish or advanced French.

Every year the Spanish department at St. Stanislaus offers a trip to a foreign Spanish-speaking country so that a student may learn about the customs and people of other countries.

Sciences Lead Students on

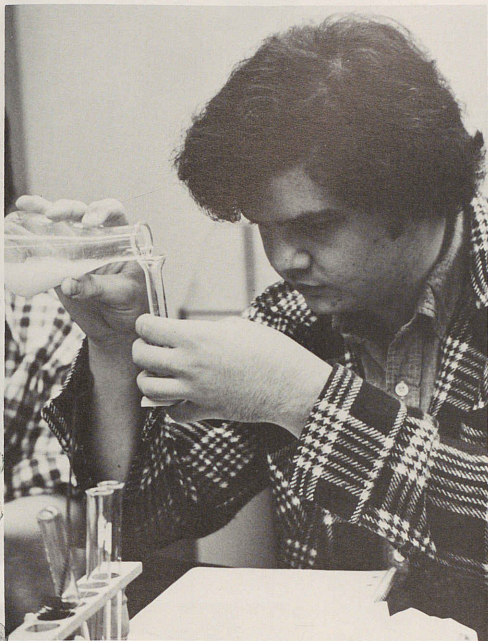

With the passing of every school year at St. Stanislaus, science has proved to be a valuable experience to many of the students involved. To those interested, the science department offers many courses such as Earth Science, Introductory Physical Science, biology, chemistry, oceanography, and physics.

A new addition to the science curriculum was Advanced Biology. It is taught by Mr. Ron Engel who was recently honored as the Biology Teacher of the Year by the Mississippi Secondary Schools.

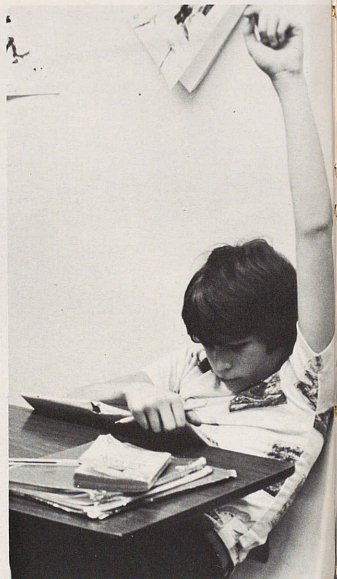

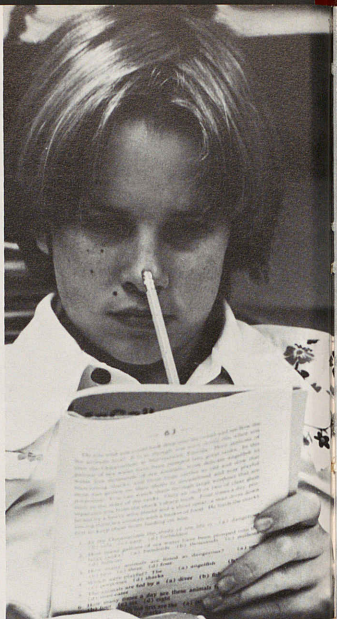

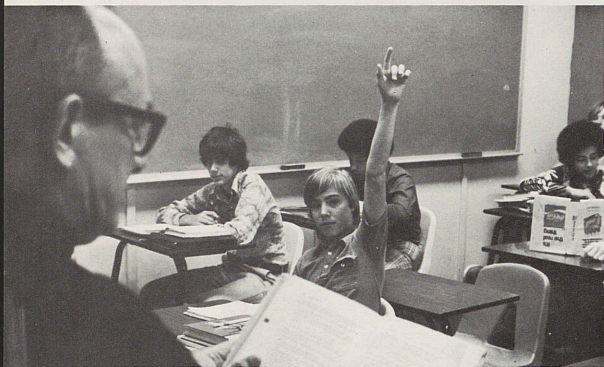

All science courses give students first hand information about their particular course. Student experiments and projects have proved to be invaluable as they give a clear visual perspective.

Grammar Tests Students

Grammar is a challenging and interesting subject to all students. Grammar teaches the mechanics of paper writing to all students. Reading class teaches a student how to use books and libraries correctly. The ultimate goal of grade school reading class is for a student to know how and where to get information from various sources.

Literature classes for freshmen consist in studying short stories and the Elizabethan period. Sophomores study tales from Medieval times, Shakespeare and Julius Caesar. Juniors study American Literature from Washington Irving to Tennessee Williams. Seniors are instructed in English Literature from the Anglo-Saxon period to contemporary writings.

Bottom: Tommy Deardoff gives an attentive stare as Brother Lucius lectures.

Below: An enthused group of freshmen try to gain the teacher's attention in their civics class.

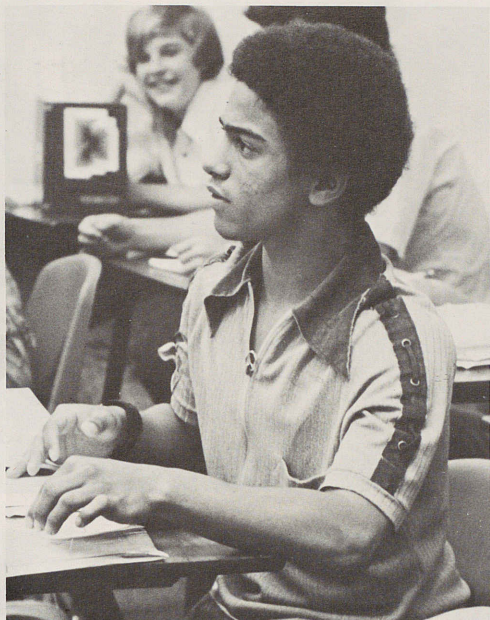

History Studies Man's Past

The social studies curriculum is very extensive at St. Stanislaus. Geography, civics and ancient history are among the courses offered. Comparative government and American history are presented in greater detail. The goal for presenting comparative government and American history with more depth is for students to link man's past with his present form of civilization.

The American history and comparative government classes keep up to date with domestic affairs and world news by reading TIME and NEWSWEEK magazines.

Math Builds Foundations

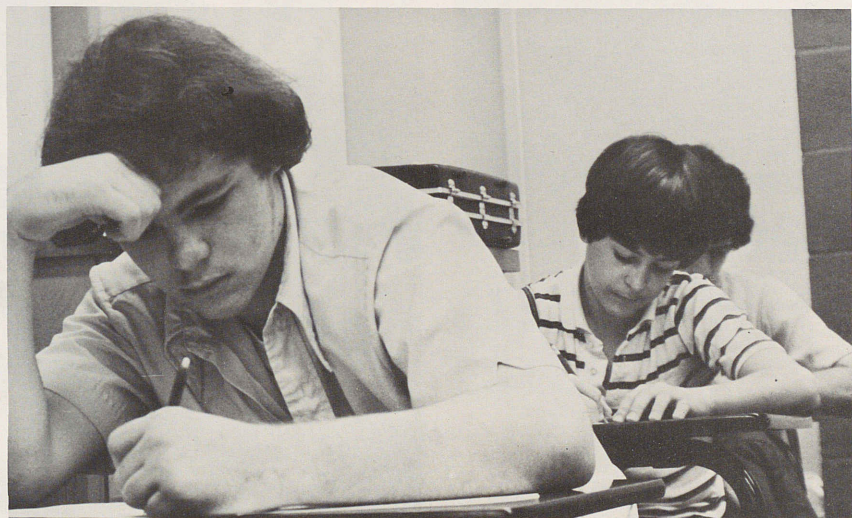

The math program at St. Stanislaus provides students with a solid foundation of mathematical knowledge that will be invaluable as he enters college or a business profession.

As freshmen, students study basic algebra; sophomores are taught geometry; juniors pursue Algebra II; seniors are offered calculus, trigonometry, or senior math.

This year Bro. Paul's advanced senior math class used many video tape programs, some of which were prepared by the students.

Art, Business Round Students

One of the most interesting and relaxing subjects offered at St. Stanislaus is art. This year, through the efforts of Brother Hilbert, several new firing kilns were installed at the Brothers' lodge for students themselves to fire art pieces after school. During the year, students increasingly tackled more and more difficult projects from nativity scenes to actually throwing their own pots.

Business, taught by Mrs. Kersanac, is one of the most practical subjects offered. It illustrates practical examples of everyday life situations, and exposes students to the way in which today's society is run. Typing, also run by Mrs. Kersanac, is more of a memory and application course which prepares students for later life.

New President Assumes Position

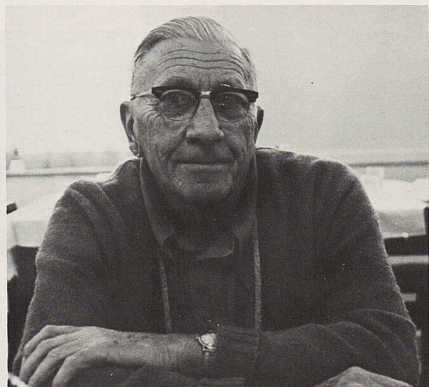

An administration led by Brother Hubert Bonnet and Brother Lee Barker headed the Bicentennial session of St. Stanislaus. Leadership of the administration set the character of the school.

Bro. Hubert worked in the Guidance Dept. before this year's promotion to president of the school. The smooth running of the school can be attributed to a large measure to efforts of its president. Brother Lee Barker closed a decade of dedication to St. Stanislaus as principal when the Brothers in the New Orleans Province elected him provincial, a three year position he begins this summer.

Prefects Have 24-Hour Days

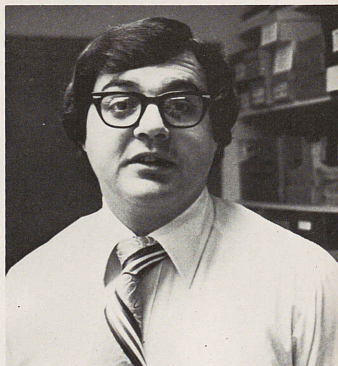

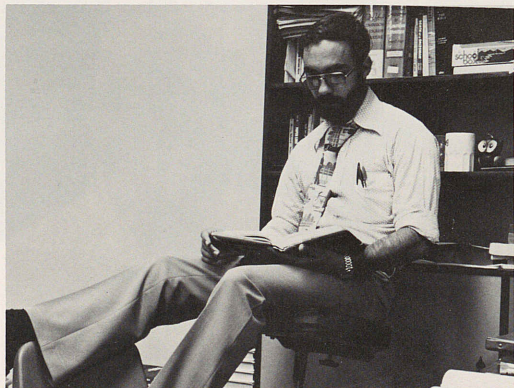

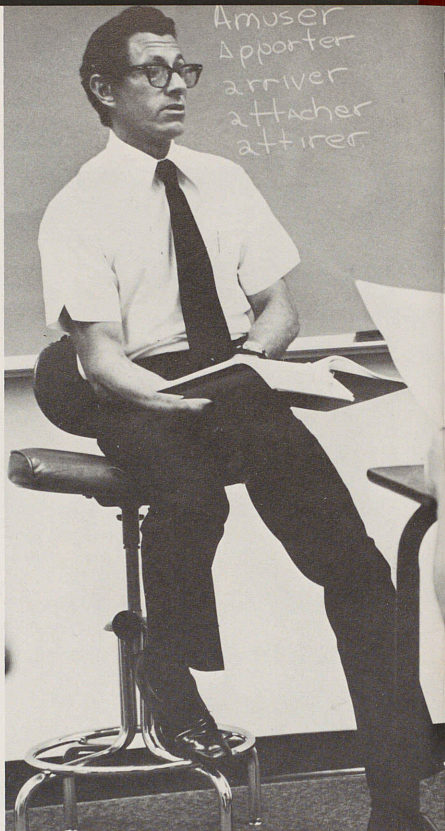

Unlike most schools that go from 8:00 to 3:00, St. Stanislaus is a 24-hour-a-day way of life for boarding students. The five prefects and their assistants are responsible for the boarding students outside of class time.

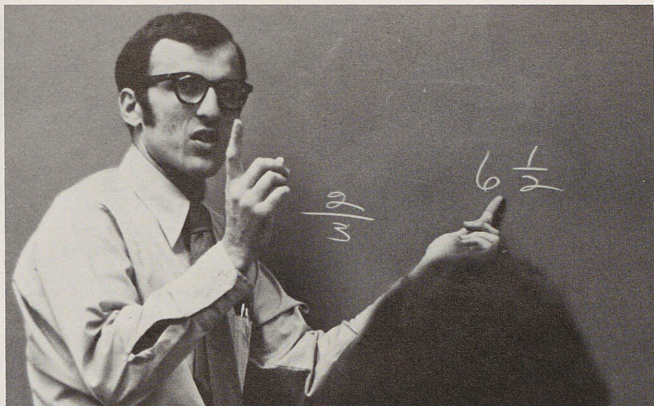

Bro. Joseph, in his thirteenth year of prefecting, is "Director of Resident Students." He supervises the senior and junior dorm. Bro. Paul, assisted by Bro. Anton, directs the sophomore dorm. In charge of the freshman section of the dorm is Bro. John; Bro. Harold helps during study periods and other dormitory functions. Bro. Peter and Bro. Timothy aid Bro. Raymond in prefecting the most active dorm — the 6th and 7th grade section.

Twelve Women Complement Staff

In this year of the woman, St. Stanislaus has had its own woman's year. Miss Ryan, who heads the reading program, became Mrs. Estrade at mid-year. She was assisted by Mrs. Gibbens, who joined the faculty this year. Mrs. Curry offers French and Spanish to high school students. Mrs. Kersanac heads the business department and teaches commercial subjects and typing.

Mrs. Sallinger, Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. McCarthy, Mrs. Aime, and Mrs. Laughlin comprise the secretarial staff, which does everything from sealing envelopes to sending memos and financial statements to the parents. Mrs. Schmidt, the school nurse, has the full time responsibility for the health care of the students. Mrs. Lagasse keeps the library organized, while Mrs. Knight is in charge of the Student Union.

Whether teaching in the classroom or working in the office, Stanislaus' female faculty spent the year continually involved in school activity.

Coaches Run Smooth Program

Although a school's primary goal is to advance the students intellectually, the physical education department runs a close second in importance.

Athletics fill a large portion of some teachers' days. Some involve themselves directly in coaching; others help by caring for the equipment and property used for sports events. Along with this, athletics involve clerical work such as scheduling, public relations, and preparation for social events that go with sports.

Each cog in the athletic machinery is needed for the smooth operation of the whole department. The combined efforts of so many dedicated faculty members make our athletic department the well-coordinated program that it is.

Guidance Aids Student Growth

Guidance plays a vital role in the growth process of the Stanislaus students. Educational, spiritual, and vocational guidance are available to the student during the day. Although all faculty members guide and advise students in one way or another, some by their special training and preparation fill a particular need through their work in the guidance department.

Mrs. Amanda Thomas, Mrs. Evelyn Gyins, and Mrs. Ordean Powell spend each afternoon vacuuming and cleaning the school building, while Mr. John Meyers does needed carpentry and handwork around the school.

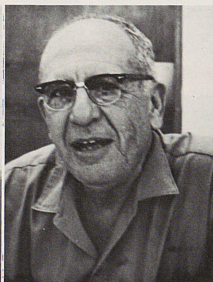

Bro. Alban heads the kitchen staff. He plans the balanced meals and with the help of his crew serves three meals a day to the resident students.

ACTIVITIES

Band Shows Desire, Stamina

Besides talent and desire to achieve, band members at St. Stanislaus possess stamina. They demonstrated this by performing so well from the first football game on September 5th, through the final concert on May 20th. At all eleven football games the Rock-a-Chaw band was the loudest among the team's supporters.

Between preparations for football games, band members were setting their sights on the October 18th competition in Gulfport, a warm-up for their state ratings. At the end of this Saturday, they received an "Excellent" overall rating, with the flag corps earning a superior.

Mr. Williams Directs Band

Following the Christmas concert of December 18th, Mr. Williams and Bro. Cyr guided music members to eleven superiors at the State Solo and Ensemble Contest on January 31st. Bobby Baughn, Rudy Letellier, and Carl Schott earned two superior ratings each; John Davis, Bobby Fayard, Nic Haas, and Howard Weaver each earned one superior rating.

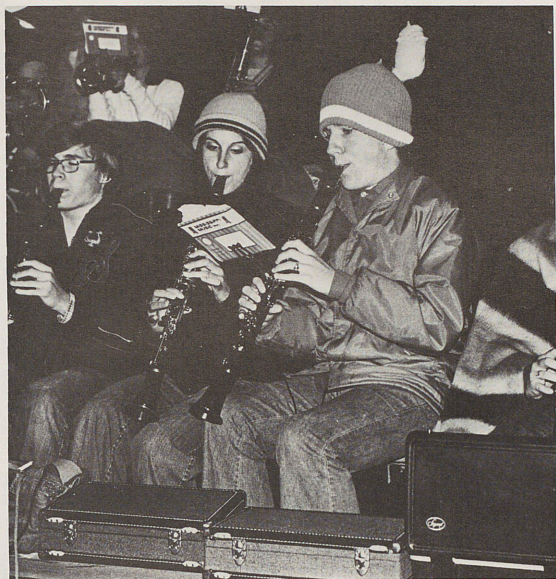

During carnival, the band marched in Wave-land's "Nereids Parade," February 22nd, and the Krewe of Mardi Gras Parade in New Orleans, on February 25th.

The fifty-five member band received its performance rating in Jackson, April 6th, by state judges. The band earned an "Excellent" for concert, sight reading, and marching. Anne Rosata's student conducting and drum major-ing won a superior rating.

Spring Concert Honors Members

Mr. Davis Williams conducted the St. Stanislaus Spring Awards Concert Thursday, May 20th, in the school resource center. The band played several selections including "George Washington Bicentennial March," "The Battle Cry of Freedom," and an "American Folk Medley." The saxophone quartet played "Old Comrades," a performance they won a superior rating for in state competition. Anne Marie Rosata conducted the band in a rendition of "Fiddler on the Roof."

At evening's end, Mr. Williams presented awards to the following members: Brian Feeney, Most Dedicated and Dependable; Willard Ladner, Best Section; John Veillon, Most Improved Individual Musician; Anne McCarthy, Best First Year Member; and senior Howard Weaver, the John Philip Sousa Award.

Student Council Provides Help

Reaching into all areas of student life, the '76 Student Council sought as its major goal to provide assistance to all students. The Student Council helped students recover lost articles with the "Lost and Found" department; another branch of the Student Council kept fellow Rock-a-Chaws up to date with the "Last Week at Stanislaus" bulletin board. The Council store sold Stanislaus shirts and other items of interest.

Student involvement in extra-curricular activities was another major concern of the Student Council. The Council organized and refereed football, basketball, and volleyball intramurals. Winning class members received trophies at the last school assembly. Annually sponsoring dances throughout the year prepared the Student Council for their major role in planning the Senior Prom.

Senior Prom Highlights Year

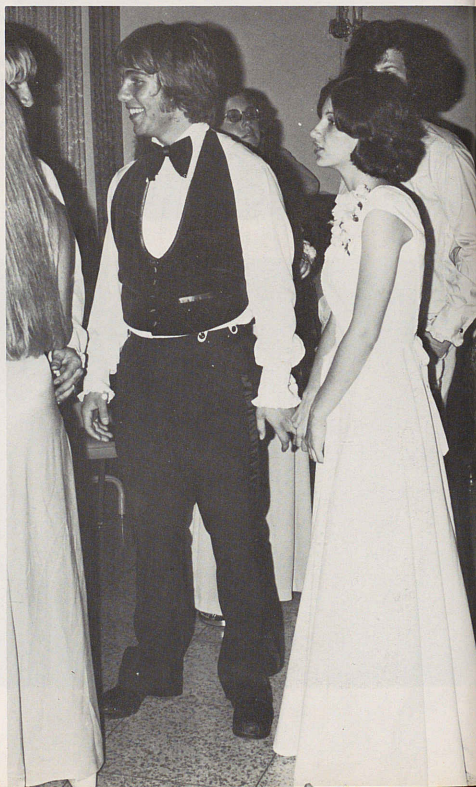

For many, the 1976 Senior Prom was the highlight of their years at St. Stanislaus. Held in the Markham Building in Gulfport, on April 24th, the Prom had as its theme "Dream On." Music was provided by the rock group "Heater."

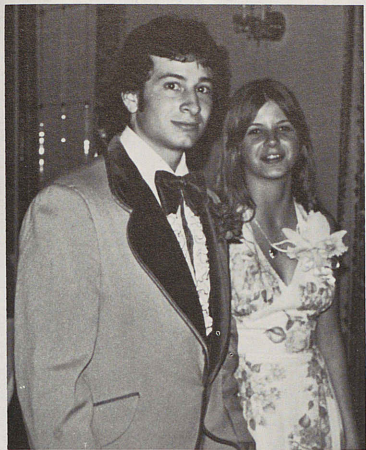

The Student Council did its usual fine job of providing decorations for the occasion. Centerpieces for the tables and a large wall banner displaying the theme "Dream On" added greatly to the atmosphere.

Seniors expressed their gratitude to Bro. Joseph, Student Council Moderator, for his tireless efforts in organizing and preparing for the Prom.

Sideline Club Supports Sports

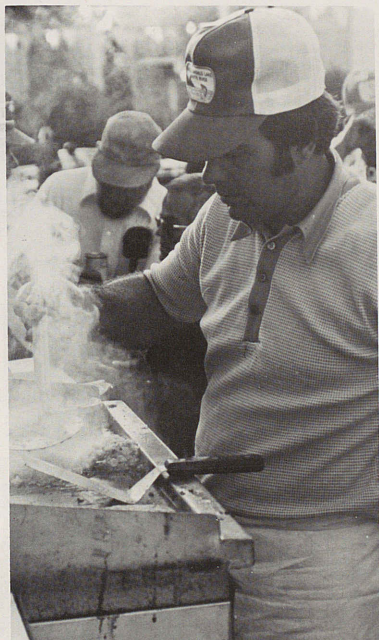

Under the direction of Bro. Philip, S.C., the Sideline Club sponsored many activities throughout the year for the support of the Athletic Department. Among these were the annual Turkey Shoot, a seafood dinner, and the Sideline Club Fair in May. Proceeds from these events will be used for the purchase of athletic equipment and for the bricking of Rock-a-Chaw Stadium now underway.

Officers for this year include: Harry Bowes, president; Lester Haverty, Jr., 1st vice president; A. J. Scardino, 2nd vice president. The Sideline Club is composed of St. Stanislaus alumni and fathers of students who wish to contribute their time and energy towards helping the school.

Lynn Reigns as Homecoming Queen

Lynn Klein reigned as the St. Stanislaus 1975 Homecoming queen. She is a junior at O.L.A. and is from Clermont Harbor. Her court consisted of O.L.A. junior Toni Frankiewicz, from Bay St. Louis; junior Denise Scadife, from Long Beach High; O.L.A. sophomores, Lis Lagarde, from Bay St. Louis and Lisa Klien, from Clermont Harbor.

During the half time program of the St. Stanislaus-East Central game, which the Rocks won 33-6, the court was presented to the fans.

Pep Rally, Dance Highlight '75 Homecoming

A spirit-filled pep rally kicked off the '75 Homecoming festivities on Thursday, November 6th. Classes vied for 1st place in the tug-of-war, the balloon race, the new, but different "King's Crown" of shaving cream, and everyone's favorite, the beauty pageant.

On Friday the 7th, the Queen and her Court rode through the streets of Bay St. Louis in the Homecoming Parade. Class 12-220's "Ban the Bug" was voted the best-decorated car.

Things quieted down a little after the parade but on Friday night, the "Rocks" had their own festivity, namely, a 33-6 victory over the East Central Hornets, thus setting the stage for the dance on Saturday night.

"Zebra" provided the sounds for the crowd at the Homecoming Dance, which topped off a fun-filled and exciting Homecoming week-end.

Reflections Records '76 School Year

This year's Reflections staff was made up of 9 new students. All the staff members wanted to produce another "superior" yearbook and with the help of this year's new moderator, Bro. Timothy, and editor in chief, John Riley, the staff was soon learning the different layouts and how to write articles for the '76 Reflections.

This year's staff was made up of John Riley, Ollo Mollere, Beau Gex, Bill Kergosien, Mark Mead, Mark Bryan, Louis Cordova, Bobby Schmieg, David Craig, Marty Tighe and Robert Fos.

Cheerleaders Lend Voices to Sports

The cheerleaders of St. Stanislaus participated in many activities besides their cheering at varsity events. These included a trip to New Orleans to see the Saints; an excursion to Ship Island for swimming and a picnic; and a bonfire on the beach.

The ten cheerleaders were John Riley, and Michelle Oustalet (captains), Lori Johnson, Juan Valdano, Becky Benvenuti, Ronald Reightler, Anne Mills, Julie Martinolich, Carlos Valdano, and John Lassere. This year's moderators were Bro. Aquin and Mrs. Susan Lee.

They traveled as a group for all varsity games as far as Vancleave for football and East Central for basketball.

Weightlifting Offers Challenge

St. Stanislaus Weightlifting Club, under the direction of Brother Bennet, is now in its seventh year of operation. This is one of the most modern and best equipped facilities found along the Gulf Coast. There are many different exercises to choose, from bench pressing to leg pressing.

Three people from the Weightlifting Club participated in the A.A.U. meet held at St. Stanislaus on March 6, 1976 in the Student Union. They were Lee Eymard, with a total of 800 lbs. for first in the 114½ lb. class, Tommy Kidd with a total of 620 lbs. placing 2nd in the 114½ lb. class, and Steve Treutel with a total of 720 lbs. for a third place win in the 123½ lb. class.

LWAS, NHS Serve School

Unique in its coverage of school events, LWAS cornered the interest of students each Monday with its bulletin board "newspaper." Long after campus activity had ceased, it was not uncommon to see Ollo Mollere and John Riley struggling to beat their deadlines. An innovation this year was the "Mystery Photo" contest, in which students attempted to identify pictures of everyday objects which were photographed at unusual angles.

Academic excellence and service to others were the keynotes of the 1976 Peter Basso Chapter of the National Honor Society. Among the activities undertaken by the group were weekly radio broadcasts and serving at the annual Leadership Banquet. Moderator of the organization was Bro. Michael, S.C.

Confraternity Achieves Goals

The Confraternity continued to fulfill its goals once again this year but under the direction of a new moderator, Bro. Albert Guarino. Bro. Albert led the Confraternity in continuous activity with the poor and needy people in the area. Some of the projects this year were visiting with patients at the local rest home, distributing Thanksgiving baskets to the poor, and working on the yards of the elderly. These deeds not only helped the needy but helped the individual Confraternity member.

300 Boarders Fill Dormitory

Living in a dormitory can be a frightening thought if you are a sixth grader among three hundred other sixth to twelfth graders. But all fears vanish after a week of making-up your own bed, sweeping your room, and learning to live with three other roommates.

Making new friends, helping each other study, and just relaxing in the pool are some of the endless activities that are available to boarders. Medical facilities include a resident nurse, a twenty-five bed infirmary, and, of course, Dr. Marion J. Wolfe.

Below: Dr. Wolfe gives a flu shot to an unappreciative Paul Fasullo.

Dormitory Life Fills Free Time

Dormitory life is not all sweeping, vacuuming, and studying. A large portion of time is spent on the phone talking to folks back home or a new friend down the beach. A new car receives a lot of special attention and care after school; and just sitting down and relaxing with other meal servers after supper occupies a lion's share of free time.

Awards, Suitcases End Dorm Year

All the tennis and the skimboard afternoons eventually become memories as the school year closes. End of the year awards are given to students who always do everything right. Then the packing begins again and everyone heads off in various directions for the summer.

Gridmen Enjoy Winning Campaign

Head coach Barry Jones seemed "to put it all together" this year as the Rock-a-Chaws chalked up a 7-3 season along with a post-season berth to the Jaycee Bowl. The offense, led by quarterbacks David Weir and Mike Graeber and backs Art Scafile and Skip Negrotto, proved their effectiveness as they scored an average of 21 points per game. Bill Poole and Mike Gemelli coached a defense that allowed less than 11 points per game.

Highlighting the '75 season were wins over HNC, 33-6, St. John, 34-0, and East Central, 35-6. But the sweetest and most long-awaited was the one over Bay Hi, our cross-town rival. It proved to be no contest as the final score was 43-0. The wins over HNC and Bay Hi made Stanislaus "City and County Champs."

Jr. High Loses, 8th Grade Wins

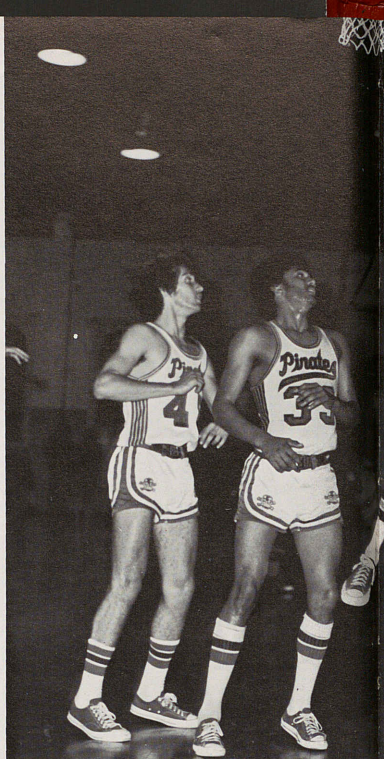

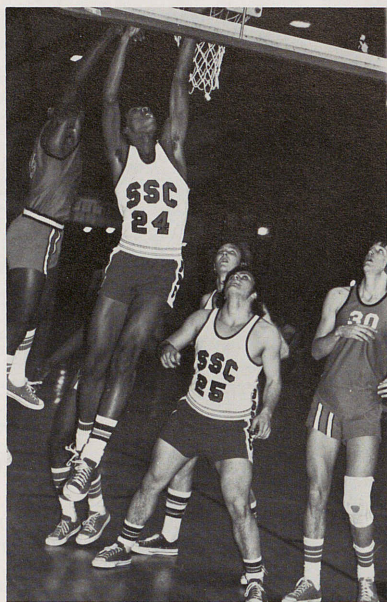

Although the St. Stanislaus Junior High Football team won only three of its games during the disappointing '75-'76 season, the long and hard practices, headed by coaches Fred Weems and Joey Boh, did bring out the fine qualities that lead to stardom and a bright future in varsity football for many of the athletes.

Undefeated and tied once, the 8th grade team enjoyed its finest season in years. Coaches Ron Engel and Charlie Matherne provided the members with the necessary fundamentals to experience a winning season.

Standouts on the 8th grade team included Jeff Reine, Tommy Peters, and David Murtagh on offense and Keith Pfister and Wes Lambert on defense.

Varsity Records 10-12 Season

Throughout the 75-76 basketball season, depressing losses were felt by both coach and team. The season's record wasn't up to par with previous seasons. Thanks to newcomer, Duane Smith, the team was a threat to almost any other team. The big man, Paul Brown, showed his ability through his rebounding and always-aggressive nature. Brown, a junior, will be returning next year with a number of other first and second-year men.

Coach Cuccaro and the rest of the team took part in a number of tournaments including the Pass High and Bay High tournaments. The team showed its spirit and ability under pressure.

Brown, Smith Cop Basketball Awards

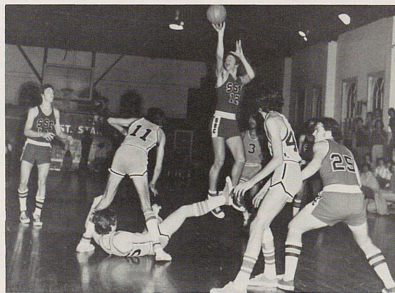

At the Awards Banquet for the basketball team, junior Baul Brown walked away with most of the silverware. He picked up four of the five awards. These included: Most Rebounds (301), Most Dedicated, Best Defensive, and Most Valuable Player. He was selected to the All-Pascagoula Conference Team, the All-Tournament Team at Pass High and the Tri-County Tourney.

Senior Duane Smith was awarded the Best Freethrow Shooting Award and was also selected to the All-Pascagoula Conference Team, the All-Tournament Team at Pass High and the Tri-County Tourney.

9th Grade Team Shows Spirit

1976's ninth grade basketball team was short on wins but long on game experience. Valuable basketball fundamentals were drilled into the players by their new coach, Mr. Mike Gemelli. Coach Gemelli stated, "A few of these players ought to really help us on the varsity next year."

Kerry Corr was chosen most valuable defensive player and John Murphy was picked most valuable defensive player. The team pulled a 2-12 season but things should look better for this team in future years.

Hustle Marks 8th Grade Team

The 8th grade basketball team hustled through an uphill season posting an overall 1-12 record. Size was a problem as the young Rock-a-Chaws lacked a tall man in the middle.

Eighth grade coach, Bro. Anton, recognized several individual efforts at the athletic awards ceremony. Jeff Lynch led the team in scoring and was named Best Offensive Player; Cary Lang garnered top rebounding honors and earned Best Defensive Player. Dee Olsen was the Most Improved Player over the season.

Tracksters Win Dual Meets

The '76 Stanislaus track team finished its season with a third place showing in the Pascagoula River Conference Meet. The regular season found the Rock-a-Chaws going undefeated in dual meets. SSC defeated Hancock North Central, Bay High, Notre Dame, and Pearl River, La.

The varsity trackmen set one new school record. Paul Cornay, Martin Hoda, Art Scafidi, and Gene Hoda broke the existing 880 relay record with a time of 132.7.

Lee Eymard merited the Most-Outstanding-Single-Event Award with his consistent showings in the pole vault. Other outstanding performers were sophomore Tommy Lotz in the mile run, Brian Milner in the shot and discus, Paul Brown in the high jump, and Joel Wallace in the 440 run.

Being a Senior . . .

Senior year is a time between two worlds — the end of youth and the beginning of adulthood. A senior feels the thrill of his own abilities and independence, but shudders at the demands of the future. It is a time to grab all the happiness and security that can be had before the inevitable change into manhood. Senior year means school leadership, a senior ring, senior day, senior retreat, senior jersey, homecoming, prom, football and basketball, preparing for college, jobs, parties, graduation, and many sad good-byes. Senior year is a happy time in which every precious minute is counted and used.
